OPPOSER'S RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO APPLICANT'S FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26 and 33, and TBMP 405, Opposer Anita Dhaliwal ("Opposer"), through its attorneys Trojan Law Offices, hereby submits the following responses and objections to Applicant DVD World Pictures Corp.'s, ("Applicant") First Set of Interrogatories as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Opposer reserves its right to use in any subsequent proceeding or at trial evidence discovered after the date of these responses and objections, and evidence now known but whose relevance, significance, or applicability has not yet been ascertained. Also, because Opposer has produced documents to Applicant which contain responsive information, and because the burden of identifying such documents and the information contained therein is substantially the same for Applicant and Opposer, Opposer reserves its right to use any such documents or the information contained therein.

2. These responses and objections are made solely for the purpose of this action. Each response is subject to all objections as to competence, authenticity, foundation, relevance, materiality, propriety, privilege and admissibility and any and all other objections that would require exclusion of any statement in these responses and objections if that statement were made by a witness testifying in court. Opposer reserves all of those objections and may interpose any of them in any subsequent proceeding or at the time of trial. Opposer further reserves the right to object to the introduction of these responses and objections into evidence and the right to object on any ground at any time to other discovery involving the subject matter of the Interrogatories or Opposer's responses and objections to the Interrogatories.

3. Opposer makes or intends no incidental or implied admissions by its objections and responses to these Interrogatories. Nothing in these objections and responses shall be construed as a waiver by Opposer of all or any part of any objection to any Interrogatory.

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

1. Opposer objects that these Interrogatories are overbroad, oppressive, and unduly burdensome.

2. Opposer objects to the definitions, instructions, and requests in the Interrogatories to the extent that they demand documents or information beyond the scope of discovery.

3. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks information that is more readily discoverable by other means.

4. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it calls for Opposer (a) to consult or produce information or documents not in Opposer's possession, custody or control, (b) to consult or produce information or documents to which Applicant has or has had equal access, or (c) to identify or describe persons, entities or events not reasonably known to Opposer, on the grounds that such an inquiry would exceed any obligation imposed by law, would subject Opposer to unreasonable and undue burden and expense, and would seek to impose upon Opposer an obligation to investigate or discover information or materials from third parties or sources that are or were equally accessible to Applicant.

5. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent it calls for information protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney-work product doctrine, and/or any other applicable privilege or protection, including, but not limited to, information from documents that: were prepared for or in anticipation of litigation; contain or reflect the analysis, mental impressions, or work of counsel; contain or reflect attorney-client communications; or are otherwise privileged. Any inadvertent disclosure of privileged or protected information shall not constitute a waiver, in whole or in part, of any such privilege. Applicant shall not use in any manner whatsoever any information derived solely from any inadvertently disclosed privileged or protected information.

6. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it contains subparts or is a compound, conjunctive or disjunctive question.

7. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it calls for information already in Applicant's possession, custody, or control, or to which Applicant has had equal access. Opposer further objects to each and every Interrogatory as unduly burdensome to the extent that responsive information is contained in publicly available materials, including, but not limited to, business directories, newspaper clippings, and Internet sites that are as equally accessible to Applicant as to Opposer. Similarly, Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it calls for information that has already been produced in this litigation. To the extent that Opposer has produced documents to Applicant which contain responsive information, the burden of identifying such documents and the information contained therein is substantially the same for Applicant and Opposer.

8. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks to require Opposer to do more than use reasonable diligence in preparing its response based on an examination of those files that reasonably may be expected to yield responsive information. Opposer further objects to each and every subpart of the Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks production of information unrelated to the scope of this Opposition.

9. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks proprietary or confidential business information, trade secrets, medical, personal, or other sensitive information. Opposer will only disclose such information subject to the May 5, 2006 Stipulated Protective Order in this proceeding.

10. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it assumes disputed facts or legal conclusions. Opposer's objection and response to any Interrogatory does not constitute a waiver of its objection to those disputed facts or legal conclusions.

11. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that the information sought is unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, has previously been produced in this litigation, or is obtainable from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive.

12. Opposer objects to each and every Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks the disclosure of information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of the lawsuit nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

OBJECTIONS TO THE DEFINITIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS IN THE INTERROGATORIES

1. Opposer objects to all definitions to the extent that they are vague, confusing and overbroad. Opposer will interpret the Interrogatories reasonably and in good faith in accordance with common English usage as supplemented by Opposer's understanding of the common meaning of terms.

2. Opposer objects to the definition of the term "Opposer" in that Opposer is a natural person and the definition of the term does not make sense as well as possibly rendering the Interrogatories overly broad, unduly burdensome and calls for the production of information beyond what is required by Rule 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

3. Opposer objects to the definition of the term "identify" to the extent that it calls for Opposer to provide information beyond the requirements of Rule 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

4. Opposer objects to the definition of the term "Related Marks" in that it is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and calls for the production of information beyond what is required by Rule 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
